

Dennis Hopwood has served global high tech organizations for the past twenty-five years as a human resources executive, principally in Oregon, Washington, and California. He comes to the Blue Mountain Land Trust with previous experience as a Board member of the Columbia Land Trust, the Portland Sustainable Development Commission, and Earth Share of Oregon (formerly the Environmental Federation of Oregon). He lives with his wife, Sharon, and daughter, Emily, on a ten acre farm in Walla Walla, in full view of the Blue Mountains.
